English/Language Arts/Reading: We are continuing our study of poetry. Students will be reading and writing various types of poems that include personification, alliteration, and rhyme!

Math: In math, we are continuing our study of mixed numbers. We will be adding and subtracting mixed numbers. We are also working with drawing/analyzing models to show the algorithm.

Science: In science we have begun our unit on matter. We are studying the physical properties, and boiling/melting points.

Social Studies: Students are learning the causes of the American Revolution. We are studying events that happened in the colonies that created tension with Britain. We will analyze each event's effect on the colonial state of mind.
